

Colorado Association of Litigation Support Professionals

COALSP'S OCTOBER 30, 2009 "eDISCOVERY SUMMIT" GUEST SPEAKERS

MAGISTRATE JUDGE ANDREW PECK

US DISTRICT COURT, SOUTHERN DISTRICT, NEW YORK

Magistrate Judge Andrew J. Peck was appointed U.S. Magistrate Judge for the Southern District of New York in 1995, and served as Chief Magistrate Judge in 2004-2005. Judge Peck served as a law clerk to Judge Paul Roney of the Eleventh (then the Fifth) Circuit, during the 1977-78 term. He was an associate and then Counsel at the law firm of Paul, Weiss, Rifkind, Wharton & Garrison, from 1978-1995. His practice in commercial litigation emphasized entertainment and intellectual property (copyright and trademark) litigation as well as arbitration, including service as an arbitrator for the AAA. Judge Peck is an adjunct professor at Cardozo Law School, where he teaches a course in Pretrial Practice. Judge Peck is a frequent lecturer on issues relating to electronic discovery. Andrew J. Peck is on the Advisory Board for The Sedona Conference.

BETH NIEPOKUJ

LITIGATION SUPPORT MANAGER

PLUNKETT COONEY - DETROIT, MICHIGAN

Ms. Niepokuj provides technical assistance to attorneys and paralegals who are preparing for facilitation, mediation and trial. Prior to joining Plunkett Cooney, Ms. Niepokuj worked as the Senior Litigation Consultant and Director of Training for a leading litigation technology company where she was responsible for providing litigation consulting services, including software implementation recommendations and data analysis, as well as installation and configuration. She has extensive experience creating and presenting multimedia presentations for mediations, facilitations and trials. She is an expert user and trainer of legal software, including Summation, Trial Director, LiveNote, and Sanction II among others. Ms. Niepokuj is a founding member and current president of the Association of Litigation Support Professional's (ALSP) Michigan Chapter.

DAVID GARRETT, ESQ.

STROZ FRIEDBERG - SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

David E. Garrett is Managing Director of Stroz Friedberg's San Francisco office. He actively manages digital forensics and electronic discovery projects for major law firms and corporations involved in civil, criminal, regulatory, and internal corporate matters which often relate to unauthorized access, spoliation, and theft of confidential, proprietary, or trade secret information. Mr. Garrett has extensive electronic discovery experience and regularly consults with top executives, in-house counsel, and outside counsel on electronic discovery cost reduction strategies and legally defensible approaches to the preservation, collection, and production of electronic evidence.

MARCY HERONIMUS, ESQ.

SHERMAN & HOWARD - DENVER, COLORADO

Ms. Heronimus is a partner at the Denver law firm of Sherman & Howard. She has trial, arbitration and mediation experience in complex corporate and commercial cases in the areas of securities and other financial fraud, corporate governance, shareholder disputes, breach of contract and business tort litigation. Additionally, she has extensive experience representing companies and individuals in connection with investigations conducted by the SEC, the Colorado Department of Securities, the FBI, and the United States Department of Justice. Ms. Heronimus has extensive knowledge of and consultation of clients in e-Discovery issues, including document retention policies, the drafting and implementation of legal holds, the collection and utilization of electronic documents, and e-Discovery disputes.

TIMOTHY GORDON, ESQ.
HOLLAND & HART - DENVER, COLORADO

Tim Gordon, Esq. is a partner at the Denver law firm of Holland & Hart. Mr. Gordon's practice focuses on the construction and commercial real estate industries. Mr. Gordon prepares, defends, and litigates construction claims. Mr. Gordon's practice also involves representing clients in complex construction appeals. In addition to his litigation activities, Mr. Gordon is involved in project development early on, counseling and representing project owners, design professionals, and general contractors in the drafting and negotiating of design and construction contracts for a variety of project-delivery systems.

ELLEANOR CHIN, ESQ.
DAVIS WRIGHT & TREMAINE LLP
PORTLAND, OREGON

Elleanor Chin concentrates on litigation and alternative dispute resolution with a particular emphasis on electronic discovery. She has extensive experience counseling clients on e-discovery and managing electronic discovery in complex litigation, including antitrust matters and class actions. Elleanor represents clients in a number of industries, including telecommunications, manufacturing, health care and insurance, in matters ranging from distribution disputes to prosecution of noncompetition agreements.

